

Domestic abuse.
It's all our business.

ABOUT EIDA

Who are we?

We are the Employers' Initiative on Domestic Abuse (EIDA) and we support over 1,000 small and large businesses from all sectors to take action on domestic abuse.

Why?

If someone is experiencing domestic abuse, work might be their only safe space. An employer can change and potentially save that person's life.

Domestic abuse is all our business and, together, we have the power to stop it.

What do we do?

Inspire and support employers to tackle domestic abuse

Offer the tools a business needs to take action effectively

Share ideas so businesses can learn from each other

Work with government, domestic abuse partners and academics to provide the latest information and guidance

What do we offer employers?

- Free membership
- Resources and examples of best practice including our members' handbook
- Policy templates and guidance
- Introductions to front line training partners
- Member case studies
- A library of sector reports and videos
- A calendar of events, with quarterly network meetings for members as well as lunch and learn sessions and rountables
- Bi-monthly newsletters

Find out more at eida.org.uk or follow us on LinkedIn and Twitter
Or contact us at support@eida.org.uk