

Bringing a Community Hub to Life

Calderdale and Huddersfield NHS Charity

Rainbow Community Hub

The Rainbow Child Development Service at Calderdale and Huddersfield NHS Foundation Trust provides vital support for children and young people aged 0-18 years with complex needs, developmental delay and disabilities.

When the services had to be relocated to a new centralised location, Calderdale and Huddersfield NHS Charity brought the new Rainbow Community Hub to life by funding the added extras to make the building extra special, like a sensory room, garden space and new play and distraction equipment.

After spending over £80,000 towards the building, thanks to amazing supporters and donors, the charity is thrilled to see the building come to life for the amazing patients and families who benefit from this service.

The Hub's Clinical Nurse Manager, Katie Booth, said: "We are very proud of everything this amazing facility has to offer and feedback from our families, who helped to design it with us, has been terrific. A huge thanks to CHFT Charity for all their continued help and support"
