

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT BY DISTANCE LEARNING.

The flexible and affordable way to combine career development with existing professional and personal commitments.

↵ FIND OUT
MORE ABOUT THE CENTRE

Delivered by distance learning, Kent's MA Philanthropic Studies enables you to balance your professional development with your personal and work life.

This unique part-time Master's degree offers a comprehensive understanding of the theory and practice underpinning philanthropy, fundraising, volunteering and the non-profit sector. You are taught by leading academics in the field including Beth Breeze, author of The New Fundraisers and In Defence of Philanthropy, and Ali Body author of Children's Charities in Crisis: Early Intervention and the State. You will also benefit from guest lectures and interaction with grant-makers, philanthropists and philanthropy advisers.

You are welcome to take just one 'standalone' course, or work towards a PG certificate; PG diploma or pursue a full Master's degree.

Contact us for more information

E: philanthropy@kent.ac.uk

University of Kent

Centre for Philanthropy

// Being on the Philanthropic Studies MA programme really has been quite life changing. I found it challenging, rewarding and really the most wonderful experience. //

↵ FIND OUT
MORE ABOUT
THE COURSE