Manager

Mike started his accountancy career here with us at Griffin after leaving a career in academia in 2020. Mike quickly became a senior member of staff, taking on larger clients and diversifying his skills. From the offset Mike showed his particular expertise working within the Audit team and within the charity sector, applying his personable nature, taking on a portfolio of charity audits and excelled in overseeing the services to some of our more complex clients.

Mike has a solid track record of delivering practical help and guidance to support his charity clients. He has a down to earth, approachable manner and clients are always complimentary of his friendly nature, as well as the ease with which he is able to explain sometimes complicated accounting points in a manner that everyone can understand.

Mike's career progression has seen him specialising in the not-for-profit sector, particularly with charities. His proficiency in offering hands-on support and astute advice has garnered commendation from clients and colleagues alike.
